Arrangements for the Coming Encampment of State Militia at Evansville.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 5. - Arrangements are in progress, and will soon be completed, for the Indiana State military encampment, to be held here from Aug. 20 to 27. The State militia will be encamped, and there will be prize drills and day and night sham battles. Prizes are offered amounting to a large sum, and $2,500 will be swarded for infantry and military contests by noted companies and batteries from a distance. There will also be parades and prize drills by Knights of Pythias. The Turners of Indiana and large cities outside will hold a fest. The commercial travelers will parade in large numbers. The Governor of Indiana and State officers will be here. There will be a chorus by 1,500 children. The Klan of Komus will parade. There will be fire-works, Illuminations and excellent music. This is expected to be one of the grandest demonstrations of the kind in the history of Indiana. Half-fare rates will be given by railroads and steamboats. Died of Starvation and Exposure. FAIRMOUNT, Ill., Aug. 4.-For several weeks there has been noticed in the vicinity of Oakwood, a few miles north of this place, a stranger wandering around from place to place and apparently shunning everybody, hiding in the corn-fields and woods thereabouts. Yesterday his body was discovered in a thick bottom of undergrowth, near the Middlefork bridge. In a coat found near the body was a letter written by Mary Farrell to Thomas Farrell, dated Linn Rock, Wy. T. It is supposed that the writer was the wife of the deceased. The man was insane, and died of starvation and exposure.

GREENSBURG, Ind., Aug. 5 .- Last evening two colored boot-black tramps were put off the local freight at Smith's Crossing, east of here. As the train started they attempted to get on, and one fell under the wheels, which cut off a foot. He was taken on to Newpoint, where medical aid was rendered and the foot amputated. Later he was taken to a hospital at Cincinnati. The unfortunate boy is about seventeen years old, and said his home is at Macon. Ga.

Found Dead in His House. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Aug. 5 .- Mr. Edward Cruft, a well-known citizen, brother of the late Gen. Chas. Cruft, was found dead to-day. He had not been seen for several days; his family was out of the city, and no one noticed his absence. The coroner pronounced the cause of death to have been heart disease, and is of the opinion that death occurred on Thursday. The body was lying on the floor, face downward, and was in a horrible condition.

ST. LOUIS, 3; BROOKLYN, 1. New York, Aug. 5.-Just 6,442 people saw the game at Ridgewood Park, Brooklyn, to-day, between Brooklyn and St. Louis. It was a sharply played game, and interesting throughout. A base on balls, an error by Burdock, and Latham's two-bagger gave St. Louis a run in the third inning. Brooklyn got rattled in the fourth and presented St. Louis with two runs. Hits by O'Neil and Comiskey, an error by Terry, and a silly play by Burdock gave the two runs. Brooklyn scored one in the first on a base on balls, an error by White, and a hit by Foutz.

GEN. PHIL SHERIDAN DEAD

Sudden and Unexpected Demise, at 10:20 Last Night, of the General of the Army.

Up to Within Less than an Hour of His Death He Seemed Bright and Hopeful, and There Was Nothing to Indicate a Relapse.

The Family and the Doctors Make the Usual Preparations for the Night,

But the General Is Suddenly Attacked by Heart-Failure Which the Physicians Fail to Overcome, and the End Comes Quickly.

Nonquitt, Mass., Aug. 5 .- General Sheridan died at 10:20 P. M. There began to be signs of heart failure at 9:30, previous to which there had been no unfavorable indication. The General had been somewhat restless on account of the heat, but seemed generally bright and cheeerful to-day. His voice was strong, he took full nourishment, and slept octasionally, as usual. The doctors and the family were in hopeful spirits. Mrs. Sheridan and the doctors went to the hotel for supper at 7 o'clock, and on returning the usual preparations for the night were made. Colonel Sheridan said "good night" to his brother about 9:20, and went to the hotel. There had been no apprehension When the bad symptoms appeared Doctors Matthews and O'Reilly applied the remedies which had been effective in former attacks, but they now had no effect, and the General gradually sank into complete unconsciousness, ending in the quiet cessation of life at 10:20 P. M. Mrs. Sheridan, the sisters, Mahan and Justinian, and the body servant, Klein, were present during the General's last moments. No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral. In a bulletin issued at midnight the doctors say that the immediate cause of death was heart failure. The remote cause was disease of the mitral and aortic valves. The complications which have occurred have been nervous exhaustion, pulmonary mgeria, anasarca and hemorrhages. He was restless to-day, but not more so than he has been several times since his arrival at Nonquitt. A about 9:30 symptoms of heart failure suddenly appeared, and he sank rapidly, dying painlessly at the hour named.

The following official bulletin was issued at

"General Sheridan died at 10:20 this evening. The immediate cause of death was heart failure. The remote cause was dis ease of the mitral and aortic valves, the existence of which was known to his physicians. to himself, and to his family, in November of last year. The complications which have occurred have been nervous exhaustion, pulmonary insuractions, pneumonia, pulmonary osegria, anssarca and hemorrhage. The last day of his life he was somewhat restless, but not more so than he has been several times since his arrival at Nonquitt. At about 9:30 symptoms of heart failure suddenly appeared. The remedies which had hithero been successful were vigorously applied, but proved in-effectual, and he sank rapidly, dying painlessly at the hour named.

"ROBERT M. O'REILLY. "Surgeon U. S. Army. "WASHINGTON MATTHEWS, "Assistant Surgeon U. S. Army."

The illness which has just resulted in General Sheridan's death, commenced on the 12th of May last, immediately after his return to Washington from a tour of inspection out West. He complained of feeling unwell and worn out, but came down to the office each day for about a week. He was then forced to remain in-doors, and on Tuesday, May 22, had a severe attack of heart failure, which greatly alarmed his family and physicians. On account of theeffect it was feared the news would have on the General's mother, who was aged and in ill health, an endeavor was made to keep the more alarmings phases of his illness from the public, and it was not until the end of that week that the physicians admitted the true character of the disease. On Friday of the week ending May 26 he had several attacks of heart failure, and these increased violence with each succeeding attack. The history of his relapses and recoveries is familiar to the readers of the daily press. With the approach of warm weather it was decided by the physicians, after several consultations, that the patient must be removed, as he would be utterly unable, in his weakened condition, to withstand a period of prolonged heat Accordingly, on Saturday, June 30, he was, after several delays, placed on board the United States steamer Swatara and taken to Nonquitt, Mass., which place he reached after several stops, caused by recurrences of the heart

The General had made his will and all preparations for death, and was ready to face it, though resolutely determined that life should not be given up without a severe struggle on his part. He leaves a wife, the daughter of Gen. Rucker, and four small children-three girls and one boy.

The News at Washington. WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 .-- Owing to the lateness of the hour at which the news of General Sheridan's death was received, it is impossible to get any information from the more important public officials. Neither the President nor Secretary of War has heard of the death of the commander of the army, and the first news containing it was received from an Associated Press reporter. One of the servants of Colonel Lamont, however, was awakened by an Associated Press reporter and informed of the sad news. He said that he would not communicate it to the President until morning. One of the servants at Secretary Endicott's was notified of the death, but he declined to awaken the Secretary to communicate the news to him.

Tolling the Bells.

Boston, Aug. 5 .- The fire-alarm bells in this city were tolled for half an hour to-night upon receipt of the news of General Sheridan's death. CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 5 .- All the fire bells are tolling in consequence of news of General Sheridan's death, and will continue tolling for one hour. Flags are going to half-mast, and tomorrow all flags on public buildings of every description will be lowered.

The Story of a Brilliant Career.

Philip Henry Sheridan was born in Perry county, Ohio, March 6, 1831. He entered the United States Military Academy as a cadet July 1, 1848, remaining there until July 1, 1853, when he was graduated and promoted in the army to the position of brevet second lieutenant of infantry, going to the garrison at Newport Bar racks, Kentucky, and from there to frontier duty at Fort Duncan, Tex., in 1854, and thence to La Pena and Turkey creek. He was made escorting a topographical surveying party from the Sacramento valley, California, to the Co-lumbia river, Oregon; in the Yakima expedition; at Fort Vancouver, W. T., secuting in defense of the Cascades: at Grand Ronde reservation, Fort Haskins and Fort Yambill. These various expeditions and services occupied the time from 1854 to 1861. On March 1, 1861, he was made first lieutenant in the Fourto Infantry, and May 14, 1861, he was commissioned captain in the Thirteenth Infantry. He was president of the board for auditing claims at St. Louis from Nov. 18 to Dec. 26; chief quartermaster and commissary of the Army of Southeast Missouri from Dec. 26, 1861, to March 12, 1862; in the Mississippi campaign until September, 1862; was made colonel of the Second Michigan Cavalry Volunteers. May 25, 1862, and on igas Cavalry Volunteers May 25, 1862, and on May 28 commanded a brigade on the raid to Booneville, Miss.; was in pursuit of the rebels from Corinth to Baldwin, participating in skirmishes at Booneville, Blackland, Donaldson Cross-roads, and Baldwin, June, 1862, and the action of Boonville, July 1, 1862, when he was commissioned on that date brigadier-general of Volunteers. He commanded the Eleventh Division, Army of the Ohio, from Oct. 1 to Nov. 2, on the advance into Kentucky, being engaged in the battle of Perryville, Oct. 8, and on the march to the relief of Nashville in October and November, 1862; was in command of a division of the Army of the Cumberland in the Tennessee camprigo, from November, 1862, to September, 1633, taking an active part in the battle of Stone Rever. He was made major general of volun-teers Dec. 31, 1862. He was in pursuit of the revels under Van Dorn to Columbia and Franklin, capturing a train and prisoners at Eagleville in March, 1863; was in the advance on Tullaho-ms; at the capture of Winchester; crossed the Cumberland mountains and the Tennessee river, and was at the battle of Chickamauga, the operations in and about Chattanooga, and actively engaged in the battle of Missionary Ridge, Nov. 23 and 24, 1863, and was engaged in the East Tennessee campaign until March, 1864. From April 4 to Aug. 3, 1864, he was in command of the cavalry corps of the Army of the Potomac, and with 10,000 men was actively employed in operations in the Wilderness, and between it and Richmond in May, June, and July. While mainly employed in rearmy, his corps made several vigorous raids, cutting off railway connections and capturing and destroying stores, was more than twenty times engaged with the confederate cavalry, and took an important part in the actions in and about Cold Harbor. On Aug. 4 he was placed in command of the Army of the Shenandoah, and Aug. 7 in command of the Middle Military Division. He defeated General Early at the Opequan, Sept. 9, and on the following was made a brigadier-general in the United States army. He was at Fisher's Hill Sept. 22, and at Cedar Creek Oct. 19, whereihe turned a rout into a brilliant victory, for wh ch he received the thanks of Congress, and on Nov. 8 was made a major-general. From Feb. 27 to March 24, 1865, he was engaged in the raid from Winchester to Petersburg, during which he destroyed the James river and Kanawha canal, cut important railway connection, destroyed military and commissary stores, and had numer ous skirmishes with the enemy. From March 25 to April 9 he was in the Richmond campaign. On April 1 he gained the battle of Five Forks, which insured the abandonment by the confederates of Petersburg and Richmond, and led to the pursuit of Gen. Lee. He was present at the capitulation, April 9, at Appomattox Court-house. He was appointed to the command of the military division of the Southwest June 3, and of the military division of the Gulf July 17, of the department of the Gulf Aug. 15, 1866, of the Fifth military district, including Louisiana and Texas, March 11, 1867; of the department of the Missouri, with headquarters at Fort Leavenworth, Sept. 12, and on March 4, 1869, upon the accession of General Sherman to the position of general, made vacant by the inauguration of General Grant as President, he was made lieutenant-general and assigned to the command of the division of the Missouri, including the departments of Dakota, of Missouri, of the Platte and of Texas, with headquarters at Chicago, which position he left to take command of the In the latter part of May the General was army of the United States, the position having been made vacant by the retiring of General very low, and on the 27th his death was thought imminent, but he rallied, only to experience mittain severe attack a few days later. On the 29th of May Senator Manderson introduced a bill reviving the rank of general, which was passed by the Senate; the measure was adopted by the House on the 1st of June, and on the same day the President commissioned him general of the army.

The Succession.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 .- With the death of General Sheridan the rank of lieutenant-general lapses. The command of the army of the United States falls to the rank of major-general. There are now three major-generals-Schofield, Howard and Crook, General Schofield being the ranking, or senior, appointment. If Congress should create the position of lieutenant-general, the appointment would be made by the President from the list of major-generals.

Objects to Emigration to Liberia. KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 5 .- Hon. C. H. J.

Taylor, ex-minister to Liberia, has sent the following letter to Hon. Frederick Douglass: My Dear Sir-I am informed, in the columns of the New York Star of the 3d inst., that Senator Sawver offered an amendment in the Senate, on the 2d, to the general deficiency appropriation bill, authoriz-ing the Secretary of the Treasury to pay the United States and Congo National Emigration Steamship Company $100 for every adult person of color who shall go to Africa on the ships of their lines. You are to-day, sir, the most prominent negro in the world, and as such I call upon you to go personally to Senator Sawyer and prevail upon him to wipe out the above amendment, which certainly, as you well know, means unlimited mischief and injury to our race. The States of this Union are better for our people in every way than Africa. Yours for the race, C. H. J. TAYLOR. Mr. Taylor also sent a telegram to the Senate

CLEVELAND AND MATSON.

Lack of Harmony Between the President and the Candidate for Governor.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.-Indiana Democrats in Washington says there is an estrangement between President Cleveland and Colonel Matson, the Democratic candidate for Governor in the Hoosier State. As chairman of the committee on invalid pensions, Colonel Matson has, during the past three years, rendered invaluable services to the President in the pension veto business and the suppression of general pension legislation. They have both worked together like a well-trained yoke of oxen, and the President thought so much of Matson that he assisted him in securing the gubernatorial nomination. Shortly after he was nominated, it will be remembered, Colonel Matson made a faux pas, so far as presidential vetoes and the administration's attitude on general pension legislation is concerned, by reporting the bill to repeal the limitation of the pension arrearages act. The President was bitterly opposed to this, and became very much put out with Colonel Matson on account of his action. He said that it put the Democratic party in a compromising position, because there was danger of the Republicans in the House forcing a consideration of the bill, and consideration meant adoption. The President further held that if the House should pass the bill the Republican Senate would adopt it in a twinkling, and this would make tariff reform alto gether out of the question. Colonel Matson knew this, and he did not intend that the bill should ever be considered; he only wanted to gain popularity with the soldier element, to assist him in his campaign; but, all the same, he placed his party in a hazardous position. The President gave vent to his opinions on the subject in very forceful language on a number of occasions, and Colonel Matson became so ashamed of himself that he did not have the cheek to visit the President with that frequency he was wont to a year or two ago.

From this the two men have been drifting and drifting further and further apart, till now the President seldom sees the Indiana candidate for Governor, and the result is the latter has little or no influence at the White House, beyond business of a character intended to help the President's campaign in the State. Last week the Democratic tongue from Indiana was made to wag vigorously about Washington, by the arrival of ex-State Treasurer Fleming upon invi-tation of the President. Immediately upon his arrival Mr. Flemming went to the White House, where he spent several hours in consultation with the President; then he met Senster Gorman and had a conference, and then met some of the Naw York Democrate. It was arranged that Fleming should have charge of the finan-cial part of the campaign in Indiana. The object in calling Mr. Fleming to Washington, however, was principally to get some correct information as to how the Harrison campaign was moving in Indiana, and the prospects of Democratic success. Colonel Matson, it is stated, did not feel first rate over the visit of Mr. Fleming. because it demonstrated to those who observed the situation that the President called upon other people than the candidate for Governor when he wanted inside information as to Indiana politics.

A MANUFACTURER'S VIEWS.

All the West Will Be Republican, and the Party Will Carry the Country.

special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 .- Hon. John Foos, of Springfield, O., is here. He is a gentleman of fine presence, with aquiline nose, white hair and mustache, and piercing black eyes. He is a prospective candidate for the seat in Congress now occupied by Mr. Kennedy, of Bellefontaine.

"We haven't got our canvaes started in Ohio," said he, "but when we do it will be a rouser. Harrison and Morton will get thirty thousand majority; the Prohibitionists will about hold their own, and that is all. The Union Labor vote will be insignificant. There is no doubt about the West being solid. shall carry everything west of New York, and Indiana is certain for the Republican ticket. If the Republicans of New York, New Jersey and Connecticut do their duty we shall have the country. It is not yet ready for any such tariff reduction as is proposed in the Mills bill." Mr. Poosis an extensive manufacturer of agricultural implements. He is a fellow-townsman of Hon. John W. Bookwalter, and, if anything, a still more extensive manufacturer. But Mr. Bookwalter is one of the most radical of Democratic free-traders.

NOT MUCH OF A "CONVERT."

cratic, and Only Abnormally Republican. Special to the Indianapolis Journal DANVILLE, Ind., Aug. 5 .- The Sentinel to-day parades the "conversion" of Dr. G. Dallas Lind. "a life-long Republican," to the Democratic party. The fellow who sent that special to the Sentinel knew perfectly well that Doctor Lind has been a life-long Democrat. The Doctor voted for Blaine in 1884 simply because he was displeased with some things in his party's platform that year. He told your correspondent the other day that he never was a Republican. and that he has always voted independently-sometimes with one party and sometimes with the other. He has never cut any figure in politics here, having devoted himseif exclusively to his school duties. In a conversation with the writer, a few days ago, he stated that he would support Cleveland this year because the Demacratic party, at St. Louis, adopted the principles of the Republican platform of 1884, while the Republicans have got on to the Democratic platform of that year. He says the two parties bave changed front during the past four years, while he has stood firm. In the same conversation he said the Republicans had talked nothing but "bloody shirt" for twenty-five years, and he was getting tired of it. When reminded that the same party that tried to destroy the Union was now in power, and that treason is not considered, under this administration, a bar to the highest political preference, he declared that neither Jeff Davis nor any of the late rebels were "traitors." As the Doctor has always held this view of the leaders of the rebellion, it is safe to assume that he never was a Republican. The sentiment is eminently and notoriously Democratic. Dr. Lind's alleged "conversion" has created no sensation here,

THE BANISHED NEGROES.

A Talk with One of the Men Driven Out of Crittenden County, Arkansas.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal EVANSVILLE, Ind., Aug. 5 .- O. W. Mitchell. a highly educated colored lawyer, has just arrived in the city from Arkansas. He was one of the many negroes who were driven at the muzzles of Winchester rifles from their nomes in Crittenden county, that State. In an interview with your correspondent, to-day, he stated lew years ago and she died. Later he paid made upon drivers and conductors. some of the scenes that were once enacted in Mississippi. In Crittenden county there are six colored people to one white, and, as the former are all Republicans and the latter Democrats, it can be readily seen why there is such a bitter feeling displayed toward the county officials. Various charges were trumped up against them. and instead of resorting to law they chose a more certain remedy. Innocent colored men were driven from their families and homes, and have not been allowed to return. At the fall election I predict a Democratic majority of between 200 and 300, and after that I believe everything will quiet down and we will be allowed to return and gether in our crops; but in that com-munity our political freedom will be at an end. There are other counties with large colored majorities that are liable to be treated in a similar manner."

OTHER POLITICAL NEWS.

Speaker Carlisle and Other Democrats Revise Cleveland's Letter of Acceptance. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 .- The statement in these dispatches, last week, to the effect that Speaker Carlisle was called to New York for the purpose of participating in a consultation over President Cleveland's letter of acceptance, is confirmed. A limited number of the most prominent Democrats in the managerial department of the party discussed the letter, submitted suggestions to the President, and then branched out into the tariff question and the part it shall cut in the approaching campaign. They made some selections of tariff literature to be published by the Democratic national committee, and agreed upon the speeches to be delivered in New York, New Jersey and Con-Fine Meeting at Vallonia. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

SEYMOUR, Ind., Aug. 5. - There was a Republican rally and pole-raising at Vailonia, this county, on Saturday last, which, in point of numbers and enthusiasm, surpassed any political meeting held in this county since the campaign opened, if not at any time in the past. The crowd was estimated by the president of the meeting, Col. S. T. Wells, to be as large as ever gathered at this old trading-post, which received one of the three votes as the site for the at Indianapolis. The zeal of the Republicans of Driftwood township is unsurpassed by any township in the State. One of the leading spirits in the Saturday meeting was Mrs. Pankey, widow of James Pankey, and daughter of the late Henry G. Smith, who was reputed to be the wealthiest man in Jackson county, and who was a stanch Democrat. Mrs. Pankey contributed the fine flag and pole that was raised in front of her residence. Delegations were present from Brownstown, and several other points, with brass and martial bands. Speeches were made by C. B. Herod, of Scott county; O. H. Montgomery, of Seymour, and John Hamilton, of Redding township. Several old-time Democrats have joined the Republican club, among them a number of Republican Enthusiasm in New York.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. WASHINGTON, Aug. 5 .- A Pennsylvania Republican member, who arrived from New York to-night, says the Harrison and Morton enthusiasm is growing rapidly in New York city, and that Republicans who bet are offering even money on their favorites. He says that while he was waiting for the ferry at the Courtlandtstreet wharf, yesterday morning, he and another gentleman undertook to count the merchants passing to and fro with Cleveland and Harrison badges on the lapels of their costs. At the expiration of a given time they figured up, and there were 194 Harrison buttons against 95 Cleveland buttons.

Hantington County Republicans.

Special to the Indianapolis Journas HUNTINGTON, Aug. 4 .- The Republican convention to-day was very large and enthusiastic. The ticket elected two years ago (the first successful Republican ticket in ten years), was renominated by acciammation, and is as follows: Representative, Col. Cyrus E. Briant, treasurer, Wm. K. Windle; sheriff, James M. Bratton; surveyor, Thos. B. Hart; coroner, Dr. Charles L. Wright; commissioners, Henry Demus, Geo. W. Bell and Abraham Shideler.
